

You're NOT Fired!

When Christchurch based Time Business Systems decided to expand their team this time last year, they decided to approach Bournemouth & Poole College about having an apprentice.

Selwyn Burke, MD at Time says "We could have placed an ad in the local paper, or contacted a recruitment agency, but we decided that an apprentice on day release to the local college would match our long term needs and give a young person a great opportunity to study and gain practical experience at the same time. Of course, we gain from the education the college offer our apprentice as well as the support they provide each quarter-checking on how things are going".

Time Business Systems are the leading distributor for Ricoh printers, copiers, scanners and multifunctional machines in the Dorset, Hampshire and Wiltshire areas. As well as the local college, their apprentice Ben Gorrod, also benefits from Time's highly knowledgeable and experienced engineers. He is also trained on the latest industry technology directly by Ricoh.

Ben is equally pleased with the apprenticeship; "My work mates at Time are friendly, supportive and good fun". It's great to work for a company that care a lot about their employees as well as their customers. I feel really positive about my long term prospects thanks top this opportunity"
